The Dwyers gave Jeff Sharp's office okay to examine Bill Gibson papers. They seem to have been interested in only his own writing, largely by-owned, as described.

I think they should be examined again for material pertinent to our work, particularly what Bill did not write himself.

If possible, it seems to me it might be worthwhile to examine each of Phil Geraci's friends & associates to see what he or they may have told them about the camp, Ferrie (any connection?), Jeffs, etc, and what he knew from Dean.

Particularly, if he is around, Paul Lavel, Davis)
